

My A4 Manifesto

I am a person who is incredibly committed to ensuring that records are taken of important events and dealings. One of my passions is to analyse and come up with solutions to problems alongside other people who can give me constructive criticism, which enables me to improve both myself and the work that I am doing.

I believe that a Federal Executive Committee has to have a fully functioning and cooperating team who are able to work well together for the benefit of the rest of the organisation. I very much am a team player.

Friends and family describe me as being a person of diligence, humour, compassion and critical thinking. All of these qualities are vital in every member of the Federal Executive Committee and I would be able to bring them into the role of Secretary.

My ultimate plan would be to take detailed, informative and creative minutes of each and every executive meeting. These would then allow us as a collective body of young leaders to be able to reflect, build and strive on what we see as our priorities going forward in the best possible way. My minutes and heavy analysis of data within the Young Liberals means that the group can truly and effectively progress with fairness and morality, with a clear sense of direction.

I have a plethora of experience that would allow me to carry out my duties to the best of my ability, for the benefit of the people. I am currently a member of the United Kingdom Youth Parliament for East Sussex, in which I have taken part in a number of events such as protesting alongside Josh Babarinde MP OBE (whom I have met on a number of occasions to discuss issues that matter to us both, covering costs and data that is important in taking the best actions), attending the UKYP Annual Conference at the University of Warwick and presenting figures and statistics and reports in front of large groups of people. I am also a Member of the European Youth Parliament, fostering political relationships between passionate young people across the continent and the European Union.

By choosing me as your new Secretary, you ensure that you will receive detailed, analytical and constructive meeting reports and feedback - whilst also having someone who has a great sense of leadership and communication, alongside humour, and a person who will always be working collaboratively with others for the people and by the people.
