

Plain Text Manifesto

I grew up in North Cornwall and have seen the impact an apathetic Conservative government and MPs have had on young people in the region. I truly believe the increase in Liberal Democrat influence marks the beginning of a fresh start for young people in Devon and Cornwall.

MY GOALS

1. Exploring ways to enhance the inclusion of young voices from Devon and Cornwall in political environments. It can be easy for young people in Devon and Cornwall to feel isolated from the rest of the country. To combat this I would explore the use of social media, pursue an access fund for regional conferences and carpooling, and expand the presence of YL in the region through university engagement.

2. Being a strong voice on the regional executive. I will push for further YL involvement at the regional conference, promoting our views on policy, particularly focusing on issues that impact young people in the region, such as public transport and housing.

3. Identifying potential YL candidates and volunteers ahead of the 2025 county elections. Through working with local universities and my own contacts within the region I would work to engage young people further in local politics, pushing them to take an active role in our region's future.
