

PT: "GALLAGHER 4 ELECTIONS" in large bold letters. Under it is written "2025 will be a crucial year for us to consolidate and build on our recent election successes - I want the Young Liberals to be at the heart of this campaign. Whether we are taking on the Tories in the Blue Wall or Labour & the Greens in our cities, I will work with regional chairs to set up action days, energise new members, and get more young councillors elected."

To the right, a picture of me wearing a Lib Dem rosette standing in front of 4 Lib Dem diamonds with "VOTE Liberal Democrats" written on them.

In the top right is a box with the twitter logo (a blue bird) next to my twitter handle @JGallagherLD, and my email address JGallagherLD@outlook.com.

The main text of my manifesto has 4 boxes, each with a title, a picture of me, bullet points with policies, and an endorsement.

From left to right:

In the first box, the title "More YLers elected" next to a picture of me holding a Lib Dem diamond in front of a large group campaigners, standing to the left of the candidate. The main text has 3 bullet points, the first being "Prioritise action days in wards with YL candidates, wards we expect to be close, and in areas easily accessible via public transport", the second bullet point being "Ensure the Young & Winning scheme continues to run smoothly by making sure grants go to candidates that need them the most", and the last being "Keep in contact with Regional Chairs and local parties to identify young candidates from an early stage, encourage them to apply for Y&W grants, and provide further support wherever possible". At the bottom is an endorsement from Annabell Terry, Warwick Lib Dems Comms Officer 2022/24 saying "I have seen first-hand how passionate Alex is about getting Lib Dems elected. I know he will give his all to support YLers standing for election".

In the second box, the title "More Lib Dems elected" next to a picture of a mixed-age group of 5 campaigners standing in front of a field. The main text has 3 bullet points, the first being "I will collaborate with Regional Chairs, State Chairs and Comms to organise action days with at least 3 weeks' notice, with travel arrangements sorted out well in advance", the second being "I will also include short 'fact files' on each action day ward with details about the candidate, past elections, why we chose the ward, how to get there, and some extra facts", and the last being "I will be ready to organise action days for potential Council and Parliamentary by-elections". At the bottom is an endorsement from Paul Kohler, the Lib Dem MP for Wimbledon, saying "Alex has been an amazing activist in Wimbledon and will make a brilliant Elections Officer".

In the third box, the title "More YLers standing for election" next to a picture of 3 young liberals, including me, taking a picture with Helen Morgan MP in front of the North Shropshire Lib Dem campaign headquarters. The main text says "Young would-be candidates are too often discouraged from standing because they don't know how to navigate candidate approval. I would:" followed by two bullet points, the first being "Work with the MDO and BDO to identify YL members who have an interest in standing for election", and the second being "Run talks and workshops with councillors and past candidates to give YLers insights into how to get selected as council candidates and PPCs". At the bottom an endorsement from Brandon Masih, YL Policy Committee 2022/23, saying "Alex is an experienced campaigner, but above all he has the skills and knowledge to motivate YLers to get involved in elections, and the compassion to support them through the process"

In the fourth box, the title: "Even more YLers campaigning" next to a picture of a young liberal taking a selfie while holding some yellow Good Morning leaflets. I am standing behind him (beardless), giving a double thumbs-up. The text reads "I will work closely with ADS officer(s) to ensure action days are accessible to ALL YLers. I am also keen to ensure they are a welcome space for inexperienced campaigners. All too often, would-be campaigners are put off by the prospect of canvassing; I will" followed by two bullet points, the first being "Ensure action days have plenty of choices for different ways to help out (canvassing, delivery, phone, clerical)", the second being "Ensure newbies have all the knowledge they need before they hit the doorsteps". At the bottom is an endorsement from Fergus Kirman, YL Co-Branch Development Officer 2023/24, saying "Alex has made so much impact in Warwick and in Merton - he would make a superb Elections Officer".
