

Re-elect Sharan Virk for International Committee.

A year of dialogue, advocacy, representation.

My term on the international committee has been one of learning and collaboration. I am even more committed to ensuring that there is a female voice of colour on the committee. I want to continue to help foster an environment which is inclusive and welcoming to all.

I am proud of the connections I have made across the world with sister organisations uniting in our shared liberation. I have learnt so much and am committed to using that knowledge in the year ahead! I already have close ties to sister parties and am keen to deliver on workshops and projects that are currently only in the initial stages.

My priorities for International Committee:

- Echoing last years manifesto, I will fight for human rights across the globe in the cases of Sudan, Palestine, Congo. My work within the national party has been focused around having conversations that are too often avoided and applying pressure in order to bring about change.
- To continue to represent working class minorities at international level. Having attended international seminars, I am very much aware of the lack of diversity in some areas of international and the bias this creates. We must continue to challenge this especially with the rise of fascism and racism across the globe. I want to ensure that the global majority is not forgotten.
- Address the issue of our own failure to attract women to international. After my own experience, this will come at a huge commitment to changing attitudes and educating our own membership of underlining bias and misogyny that is often unconscious. I am currently in the planning stages of a project that will be hosted with our sister parties and want to lead on tackling this issue.
