

Will Farndon for Disability Rep

On the Federal Diversity Committee

Who am I?

My name is Will (he/him), I'm a disabled student from Tyne & wear studying for my A-levels. I live with Autism Spectrum Disorder, ADHD, as well as Irlen syndrome.

I've fought hard for my right to education and a fair quality of life and that resilience drives me to stand up for our community. As your disability representative, I'll make sure every voice is heard and every right defended.

Advocacy – standing up for you

- Use the Young Liberals to promote awareness of challenges facing disabled people
- Making sure issues facing disabled people within the party are always front and centre during talks with our members and Executive

Communication – always lending an ear

- I will make sure all information is clear and accessible, including policy on accessibility
- I'll make sure to reply to any and all queries sent to my email regarding me or accessibility arrangements

Inclusion – ensuring accessibility

- working within my role as disability representative to make sure all events (such as conferences and action days) are accessible to everyone
- build on the success of existing accessibility arrangements
